We support groups working towards building strong, sovereign and engaged communities. The cooperative business model is often the best business model for serving the unique needs of rural and Indigenous communities.

Notice to readers: The BCEDA does not endorse or recommend any specific consultants but does encourage you to consider hiring one that supports the profession by becoming a member and attending professional development events. This list is just provided to help you identify potential consultants for your various initiatives.
